His mom went for an abortion...

but chose life. Find out why.

OVER

Friends for Life: Denise, center, was determined to have an abortion but God used the love and prayers of her newfound friends to protect her and her baby boy Jah'khari Malachi, who arrived in March!

What Made Denise Choose Life?

More than a year ago, Denise sat in an abortion clinic on Oakland Park Boulevard. Financial pressure and embarrassment took her there.

"I was determined. I mean, I don't believe in abortion. But I was facing a situation. . . ." So she told herself, "Okay, I'm going to get this done."

Surrounded by the clinic's bare white walls on a Saturday morning, she filled out paperwork and grew anxious. "I saw my life flash before me." She walked out to the parking lot and spotted four people talking with the friend who brought her.

"And I'm like, 'Are you kidding me? Right now?'" They told Denise they were praying for her, that she would choose life for her child.

"I Just Started Crying"

"I listened. We started praying, and I just started crying. I was like, 'God, I know this is wrong. But . . . what are people going to think about me? How's this going to work out?'"

"So at the end, yes, I changed my mind. . . . 'Okay God, let your will be done.'"

Her little boy, Jah'khari Malachi, arrived last March! In November, she dedicated him to the Lord at her church.

The people who talked and prayed with her, she says, not only saved one life. "That day they saved two lives."

Speak Out

You can do the same when you speak out for life. Your love and wise counsel can make a life-saving difference for abortion-minded women like Denise. As she now says, "Children are a heritage from the Lord" (Psalm 127:3) and each one of us is "fearfully and wonderfully made" (Psalm 139:14).
